

Taylor Hampton Wins Media Awards

ADDG Founder Member Taylor Hampton Solicitors Limited is known for its work in reputation management and privacy. Cases in which the firm has acted led to the closure of the News of the World and the establishment of the Leveson inquiry.

The company has won a number of accolades this year, the most recent being the Legal 100's "Best Defamation Lawyer of the Year" and the Global Awards "Media Lawyer of the Year 2018" awarded by Corporate Livewire. Taylor Hampton is a proud founder member of the ADDG and is a specialist in Art Law and Art Fraud cases.

Maintaining a good reputation in the art world is critical. In the internet age, reputations built up over many years can be damaged at the click of a button. The same applies to the artworks themselves which increasingly come under greater scrutiny with the advent of fakes, forgeries, mis-attributions and re-attributions appearing in the news. Taylor Hampton has commented on the Andree Hahn slander case in our blog here: <http://www.artduediligencegroup.com/2018/04/18/slander-of-title-and-reputation-management-in-todays-art-world/>
